Selected Economists of Polish Origin Collaborating with PTE

The Polish Economic Society (PTE) fosters cooperation with economists of Polish origin who hold or have held positions at universities abroad. Their scholarly achievements and professional experience enrich the Society's activities, facilitate the exchange of knowledge, and strengthen the international ties of Poland's economics community. In this issue of the Bulletin, we present profiles of selected scholars who collaborate with PTE.

Dr Paweł Bukowski is an Associate Professor of Economics at University College London and the Institute of Economics of the Polish Academy of Sciences, and a Visiting Fellow at the London School of Economics. His research focuses on labour markets, wage determination, and income and wealth inequalities, particularly in Central and Eastern Europe. He has published in leading journals, including the Journal of Economic Growth and the Journal of Labor Economics. He is a co-founder of the expert group Dobrobyt na Pokolenia (Prosperity for Generations) and a member of Concilium Civitas.

Source: https://profiles.ucl.ac.uk/88771-pawel-bukowski

Prof. Ladislau Dowbor is a Brazilian economist of Polish origin and a Full Professor at the Pontifical Catholic University of São Paulo (PUC-SP). His work addresses economic and social development, inequality, and the challenges of the digital economy. He is the author of more than 40 books and numerous articles. His publications are freely available at dowbor.org, with selected works translated into several languages.

Source: https://www.meer.com/en/authors/970-ladislau-dowbor

Dr Marzenna James is a Lecturer in Public and International Affairs in the Department of Politics and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University. Her research focuses on international political economy, economic power, European security, and Central European and Russian foreign policies. She has authored articles and book chapters linking international relations, comparative politics, and economics, and has contributed to Project Syndicate. She holds a PhD in Politics from Princeton University.

Source: https://spia.princeton.edu/faculty/mjames

Prof. Beata Javorcik is Chief Economist at the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD) and Professor of Economics at the University of Oxford, where she is currently on leave. She was the first woman to hold a statutory professorship in economics at Oxford. Her research focuses on international trade, foreign direct investment, and economic development. Before joining Oxford, she worked at the World Bank. She holds a PhD in Economics from Yale University.

Source: https://pte.pl/baza-wiedzy/ekonomisci-polscy-w-swiecie/beata-javorcik

Prof. Bartłomiej Kamiński is a retired Professor of Government at the University of Maryland, College Park, specialising in international economics and development. He previously taught at the University of Warsaw and served as Director of Maryland's Center for the Study of Post-Communist Societies. As a long-standing consultant to the World Bank, he contributed to research and policy projects on international trade, regional integration, and economic transformation. His work examines how institutions and economic policies can support development and improve social welfare.

Source: https://pte.pl/baza-wiedzy/ekonomisci-polscy-w-swiecie/kaminski-1

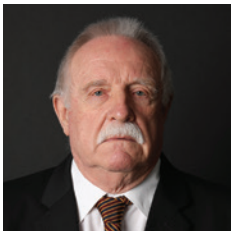

Dr Wojtek Paczos is a Senior Lecturer in Economics at Cardiff University and an Assistant Professor at the Institute of Economics of the Polish Academy of Sciences. He also serves on the Supervisory Board of Bank Gospodarstwa Krajowego (BGK), Poland's development bank. His research focuses on international economics, monetary and fiscal policy, sovereign debt, and banking. He has published in the European Economic Review, Journal of Money, Credit and Banking, and Oxford Economic Papers. He holds a PhD from the European University Institute and was previously a Visiting Academic at the Bank of England.

Source: https://paczos.eu/

Prof. Piotr Pysz is a Polish economist specialising in ordoliberalism, the social market economy, and economic policy. He has taught at universities in Poland and Germany and was a member of the Balcerowicz reform group in 1979–1981. Since their inception in 1991, he has co-organised and provided academic leadership for seminars on the social market economy and European integration in cooperation with the Polish Economic Society (PTE). He is an author and co-editor of numerous publications on economic systems and institutional change.

Source: https://pte.pl/baza-wiedzy/ekonomisci-polscy-w-swiecie/p-2

Prof. Jan Napoleon Saykiewicz (Sajkiewicz) is a Professor Emeritus at the Palumbo-Donahue School of Business at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. His academic interests include marketing management, international marketing, comparative marketing systems, and logistics. He holds a doctorate in economics from the Warsaw School of Planning and Statistics, now SGH Warsaw School of Economics, and completed postdoctoral studies at the University of California, Berkeley. He has taught at universities in Poland and abroad, including as a Fulbright Scholar at Kozminski University.

Source: https://pte.pl/baza-wiedzy/ekonomisci-polscy-w-swiecie/saykiewicz

Prof. Tomasz Strzałecki is the Henry Lee Professor of Economics at Harvard University, where he has been a faculty member since 2009. He is also a member of the Programme Board of the journal Ekonomista. His research focuses on decision theory, ambiguity aversion, intertemporal preferences, and bounded rationality. He holds a PhD in Economics from Northwestern University and a master's degree from the University of Warsaw.

Source: https://www.economics.harvard.edu/people/tomasz-strzalecki

Prof. Jan Toporowski is a Professor Emeritus of Economics and Finance at SOAS University of London and a Visiting Professor of Economics at King's College London. His research focuses on monetary theory and policy, financial crises, macroeconomics, and development economics. He is the author of a two-volume intellectual biography of Michał Kalecki and serves as Kalecki's literary executor. Before entering academia, he worked in fund management and international banking, and has subsequently advised several United Nations organisations.

Source: https://pte.pl/baza-wiedzy/ekonomisci-polscy-w-swiecie/toporowski-jan