Academic Journal Ekonomista

EKONOMISTA

CZASOPISMO POŚWIĘCONE NAUCE I POTRZEBOM ŻYCIA
ZAŁOŻONE W ROKU 1900

Ekonomista is one of the oldest and most highly regarded Polish academic journals in economics, with a long-standing tradition of publishing research addressing both theoretical developments in economics and the needs of economic practice. Since its establishment in 1900, the journal has played an important role in the development of economic thought and in shaping academic and public debate on economic issues in Poland.

The journal publishes original research articles, theoretical and empirical studies, reviews and contributions addressing contemporary economic challenges. Its scope encompasses a broad range of topics in economics, including economic theory, policy, and development, as well as institutional economics, international economics, and socio-economic issues.

Ekonomista provides a platform for the exchange of research findings and academic perspectives and contributes to the advancement of the economic sciences in Poland and to the integration of Polish economic research into the international academic community.

The journal is jointly published by the Polish Economic Society (PTE) and the Institute of Economic Sciences of the Polish Academy of Sciences (INE PAN).

Bulletin of the Polish Economic Society

Biuletyn
Polskiego Towarzystwa Ekonomicznego

The Bulletin of the Polish Economic Society is a periodical devoted to current economic issues, economic policy, and the activities of the Polish Economic

* Prof. Maria Urbaniec—Vice-President of the Polish Economic Society, Krakow University of Economics.

Society (PTE). It features articles, analyses, reports, and commentaries addressing key economic and socio-economic challenges, as well as major initiatives, events, and activities undertaken by the PTE.

The Bulletin provides a platform for presenting expert perspectives on current developments in the Polish and international economy. Its content covers a broad range of topics, including economic policy, socio-economic development, contemporary challenges facing the economy, economic education, research, and the activities of the academic and professional community.

An important function of the Bulletin is to facilitate communication and the exchange of ideas among economists, academics, experts, policymakers, and economic practitioners. By bringing together academic reflection and perspectives from economic practice, the publication contributes to a broader and more informed public debate on key economic and socio-economic issues.

The Bulletin also documents the activities of the Polish Economic Society, including conferences, congresses, seminars, competitions, educational initiatives, and publishing projects. In this respect, it serves both as an information platform for the economics community and as a record of selected areas of the PTE's institutional activity.

As a regularly published periodical, the Bulletin of the Polish Economic Society helps disseminate economic knowledge and foster informed economic discourse in Poland.

Economic Books

The Polish Economic Society (PTE) has a long-standing tradition of publishing economic books aimed at both the academic community and practitioners involved in economic and public policy. Publishing activities constitute an important element of the PTE's statutory mission to disseminate economic knowledge, promote economic literacy, and contribute to informed public debate on contemporary socio-economic issues.

The PTE's publishing program covers a broad range of topics in economics, including economic theory, policy, and development, as well as institutional economics, social and economic transformation, sustainability, international economics, and contemporary challenges facing economies and societies. The publications combine theoretical perspectives with empirical analysis and practical considerations, making them relevant to researchers, university teachers, students, policymakers, and economic practitioners.

An important component of the PTE's publishing activity consists of thematic publication series devoted to selected areas of economic thought and policy. These include the Nobel Laureates in Economics series, presenting the achievements and intellectual contributions of recipients of the Sveriges Riksbank Prize in Economic Sciences in Memory of Alfred Nobel, and the Social Market Economy series, addressing the theoretical foundations, institutional conditions, and contemporary relevance of the social market economy model.

The PTE also publishes monographs, edited volumes, and other academic publications resulting from conferences, seminars, research projects, and expert debates. These publications provide a lasting record of discussions conducted within the economics community and contribute to the dissemination of research findings and expert knowledge beyond academic institutions.

The publishing program also supports dialogue between different schools and traditions of economic thought. By making research and expert analysis accessible to a wider audience, the PTE's publications foster economic discourse and a better understanding of the processes shaping the Polish, European, and global economies.

Consequently, through its publishing activities, the PTE performs both an academic and public-interest function: supporting the advancement of the economic sciences while contributing to the dissemination of reliable economic knowledge and strengthening economic literacy in Polish society.
